

BatchMaster ERP for Paper and Packaging Products

The protective packaging for your business

Rise in consumer awareness about the environment is the latest trend in the global paper and packaging products industry, as more and more people now know how the industry is amongst major catalysts of climate change. This, along with other factors such as economic fluctuations, volatile prices of pulp, raw materials' sourcing etc., has boosted the need for eco-friendly packaging solutions. Also, raw materials coming under pressure from environmental regulations, intense competition etc. have shifted the manufacturer's focus towards ways to achieve cost efficiency and innovation in producing eco-friendly paper as well as package solutions.

To achieve the same, BatchMaster ERP for Paper and Packaging Products has emerged as one potent solution which helps the manufacturers achieve complete integration of business functions with minimum implementation costs. Its power-packed features allow the manufacturers: visibility to assess capacity options, create and manage optimized production plans, boost supply chain efficiencies, streamline manufacturing processes, consistency in formulation, Unit of Measure flexibility, accurate cost information, flexible scheduling, adherence to regulatory compliances, and lot traceability and control among others.
